CASE PROFILE

Tree Trimming is an important home service that requires SEO in order to compete Online. The client came to us after trouble ranking with a previous company. We started with a full website audit in order to deliver a sound strategy for search engine optimization for their Colorado Springs SEO. From there, we laid out a keyword portfolio that also incorporated nearby cities to improve their location signals in search. The content was also an issue for the client, which meant we spent some time optimizing the on-page elements centered around content.
